

Energy Communities Checklist

Keep these points in mind when establishing/developing an EnC:

- Define the goal of your community (why do you want to build an EnC?)
- Build your community (gather motivated people, identify possible community leaders, verify if there isn't a community already)
- Define the type of activities you want to pursue/develop (eg. Energy sharing, collective self-consumption, energy production, storage, electric mobility, etc)
- Verify what's the best legal form to organize yourselves based on the activities you want to pursue (eg. Energy cooperative, non-profit association, etc)
- Seek support (eg. Others might have walk down the same road and have advice to give you, seek partnerships, etc)
- Communication (choose the best channels and tell everyone about your community, others might want to join as well)
